What the Crime Samples Mean

- Stubs and Nanny might have cut themselves in the dark while exacting the murder. Nanny even admits to cutting herself
- Left fingerprints on the murder weapon and all over the scene.
- Message written to Cornball with a pen; all guests had a pen on them
- Upon examination of the threatening note, we found it was written either by Norma Nanny's or Sam Stub's pen

Storyline - Part 1

Captain Cornball = Thomas Sandstone

The Evidence is that Thomas Sandstone had a lot of Kids and Captain Cornball claims to had affairs with many women and Thomas Sandstone got arrested for killing Joan and Peebles, Captain Cornball has also gotten arrested.

Had affairs with numerous people

Sent to jail after murdering Joan, Peebles, and supposedly Nadia

Storyline - Part 2

Sam Stubs engaged to Peebles

Distraught after her murder

Recently seen with Norma Nanny plotting

Norma Nanny wants to get back at Nadia's death that Sandstone possibly committed

Write warning message to him on party night, then kill him

Motives - Why Kill Captain Cornball?

- Sam Stubbs

- Cornball (under the name Thomas Sandstone) murdered Stubbs' fiancée Peebles Sandstone
- Stubbs also has XYY syndrome, which sometimes augments impulsiveness, explosive temper, and defiant or antisocial behavior.
- Explains why an otherwise ordinary person would resort to murder.

- Norma Nanny

- Nanny's cousin was mysteriously murdered and perhaps Nanny suspected Cornball as the murderer.
- Nanny also has Trisomy X which means she has three X chromosomes instead of the normal two, and an effect of that is often increased anxiety.

Conclusions

- Sam Stubs and Norma Nanny are prime suspects
- They are working together
- Nanny and Stubs have motives
- Nanny and Stubs have been seen together recently
- We move to charge BOTH Norma Nanny and Sam Stubs with first degree murder
